

Funds lacking for freeway completion

By Lynne Locke

State funds will not be available for completion of the Foothill Freeway in the "foreseeable future" even though a number of local officials have called the freeway an essential link in the state transportation system.

The majority of the freeway right-of-way has been purchased or reserved, but the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) cannot ensure it will ever be constructed because construction funds are not available, according to LeRoy D. Smoot, deputy district director for project development.

Caltrans staff members from districts covering Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties listened to some three hours of public statement Jan. 5 as the first stage in reevaluating the need for the freeway. They will make recommendations to the State Commission which will make the final decision.

Although the majority of the speakers favored completion of the freeway, the handful of officials and residents opposed to the freeway seem more likely to get their wish.

Lack of funding

Lack of funding is the major factor in the possible abandonment of the Foothill Freeway, according to Caltrans District Director Jack Peddy, who said local projects presently holding a high funding priority are eligible for federal funding or are being jointly funded by the state and local agencies.

Without some change in the revenue structure, there will be no funding for the Foothill Freeway "for many years," Peddy commented although he noted the Foothill Freeway's priority "has been established many times."

(State Transportation Director Adriana Gianturco recently announced the state will proceed with three freeway projects which had been delayed. One report attributed the change to "heavy political pressure" from members of Assembly and Senate transportation committees.)

(The report noted critics have accused the present state administration of delaying highway construction while building up large reserve of road funds.)

Smoot said Caltrans will have to decide whether the social and economic costs of building the Foothill Freeway are higher than the potential benefits.

If the state decides to rescind the Foothill Freeway, the process of public hearings and sale of the acquired right-of-way could take more than a year, he said and noted a decision to retain the Foothill Freeway in the state freeway system could take up to three months.

Freeway right-of-way

But a diagram of the retention process does not include funding for purchase of land or construction, so the local communities could find themselves in the same situation: being asked to protect the freeway right-of-way with no timetable for purchase or construction.

Smoot said Caltrans has purchased $11 million of right-of-way land from the end of the freeway in La Verne to San Bernardino, and noted the majority has been purchased in Los Angeles County where "the freeway route is already imprinted on the urban landscape" by adjacent developments.

He estimated cost of purchasing the remainder of the route at $9 million with construction costs at more than $106 million.

Freeway supporters cited continued promises from the state, local transportation needs, and a need to decrease pollution as reasons for completing the freeway with freeway opponents listing fear of increased development and pollution as well as cost of freeway development.

Local reactions

The Foothill Freeway is the result of "visionary planning. It made sense then (1957) and the need is that much greater now," according to Hal Bailin, Upland City Council member and president of the Foothill Freeway Association.

Bailin dismissed fears that the freeway would bring more development and more population.

"It's no longer a question of the freeway opening up the growth. We've got the growth," he said and commented the foothill communities "will be absolutely choked" by traffic within 10-15 years, the soonest the freeway could be constructed.

Noting the high unemployment in the West End Bailin said construction of the Foothill Freeway "would be eminently appropriate as a public works project, if for no other reason."

The San Bernardino County general plan "shows a definite need for the Foothill Freeway, according to Daniel Mikesell, former Se-

District supervisor.

Mikesell noted local communities have experienced "nothing but problems" because surface streets are being used to carry Los Angeles County residents who are traveling to the desert and mountain recreation areas as well as local residents who commute to work in Los Angeles County.

Upland Councilmembers Bill Bottin, John McCarthy and George Gibson all spoke in favor of a fast decision and rapid construction of the freeway.

The City Council "has protected the right-of-way and now we're beginning to be pushed into a corner and are threatened with law suits," McCarthy said and added, "It is incumbent on the state to acquire the rest of the right-of-way and start construction."

Upland City Manager Lee Travers and City Engineer Fred Blanchard noted heavy traffic is being carried on surface streets which are not suitable as major traffic arteries.

"Pressures on surface streets become just unbelievable. We need the segment completed very badly," Travers commented.

Opposition

Councilwoman Ina Petokas, the only Upland official who spoke to oppose the freeway, suggested an intercommunity route with limited access to meet local transportation needs without becoming a transportation corridor for long-distance travelers.

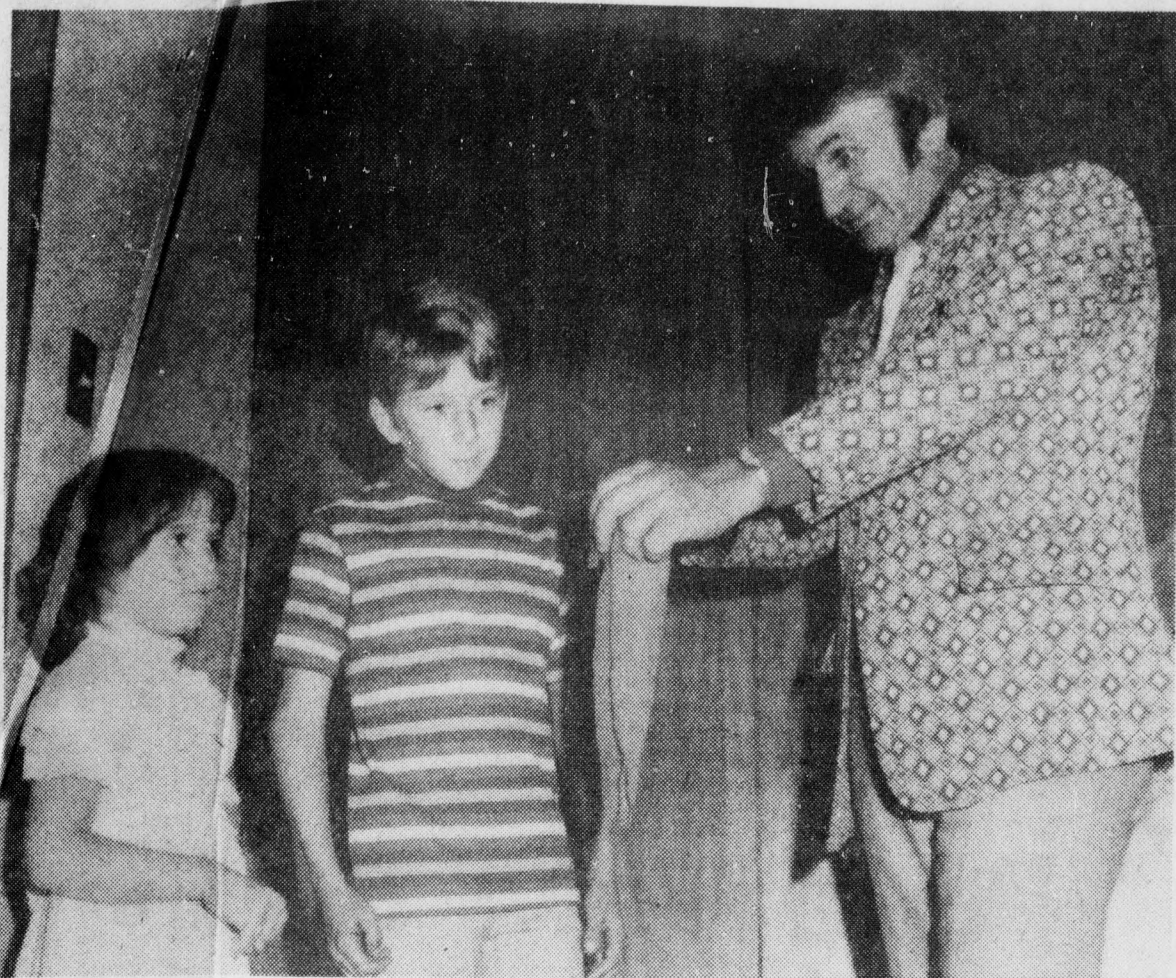

Upland resident and business owner Joseph Campanella said the freeway is not needed. "All the cars going by (on surface streets) don't bother me one bit," he said noting he lives at the corner of Euclid Avenue and Foothill Boulevard.

Campanella said he is concerned that completion of the freeway would take traffic away from businesses along Foothill Boulevard creating a "disaster area" similar to Foothill Boulevard in La Verne.

The freeway would be "a duplication of a waste of money, and I'm against it," he said.

Blender Donald Rankin said the state must recognize the energy crisis and scarcity of fuel will change transportation.

Freeway construction funds should be used for alternate means of transportation, he said and added completing the Foothill Freeway might create a "relic that will not be used in the future."

Lesson in determination and strength

Teacher overcomes handicaps of polio

By Lisa Hill

Stricken with polio at the age of 35, Hugh Folkins spent 10 long months in a hospital confined to an iron lung wondering if he'd ever be able to move again.

It's a lesson in determination and emotional strength to see Folkins today as he teaches school, directs a church choir, and surprises opponents on the lawn bowling circuit.

While the 56-year-old never regained use of his arms, he makes the best of what he has teaching drama, English and geography at Lorbeer Junior High School in Diamond Bar.

He also pursues a strong interest in music, using his head to direct the Upland First Methodist Church choir each Sunday. In addition he competes with other players on the green using a steady foot thrust to roll the bowl to its mark.

"The two things I wanted to do after I had polio were my music, since singing is my avocation, and the lawn bowling, which is my hobby," said Folkins.

Although discouraged at first, Folkins decided to accept the fact that he couldn't do everything he wanted to do unless he adapted.

"A person has to live with what he has," he said.

An avid lawn bowler since age 14, Folkins was determined not to give up the sport. So he designed an aluminum device to fit on his right shoe that would slip around the bowl. With a quick flick of the ankle, instead of a wrist, he sends it on its way.

Folkins, a national singles champion prior to his bout with polio in 1956, has won the Pomona and Riverside club titles several times and teamed with his brother in 1973 to win the national triples title in Seattle.

He lost a match 13-9 last September in the Southwestern Division Lawn Bowling Tournament in Santa Barbara, but succeeded in rolling the bowl directly to its destination (a white ball known as the jack) five times.

He may surprise his opponents, but he thinks he can do better.

"I would like to win the doubles championship again with my brother but I don't want him to do it all," said Folkins. "And I'd like to win the singles again, but I'm not that consistent."

There aren't any rules against Folkins' unique style of lawn bowling. Yet he drew some strange looks on a bowling green in England where the natives were "a little bit shocked by the whole thing."

Referring to lawn bowling as a game of "skill and finesse," which doesn't require much brute strength, Folkins commented on the sport's popularity with older people.

He said he would like to see more young people try it, however, because it is a good family game. Both of his parents were lawn bowlers.

As a former mayor of Redlands where he was raised, Folkins said he has always been interested in political science.

He majored in government with minors in history, economics and English and taught social studies on the high school level before becoming an administrator for the Riverside Unified School District.

He moved to Pomona after he was stricken with polio and was an administrator with the Pomona Unified School District before he returned to classroom teaching.

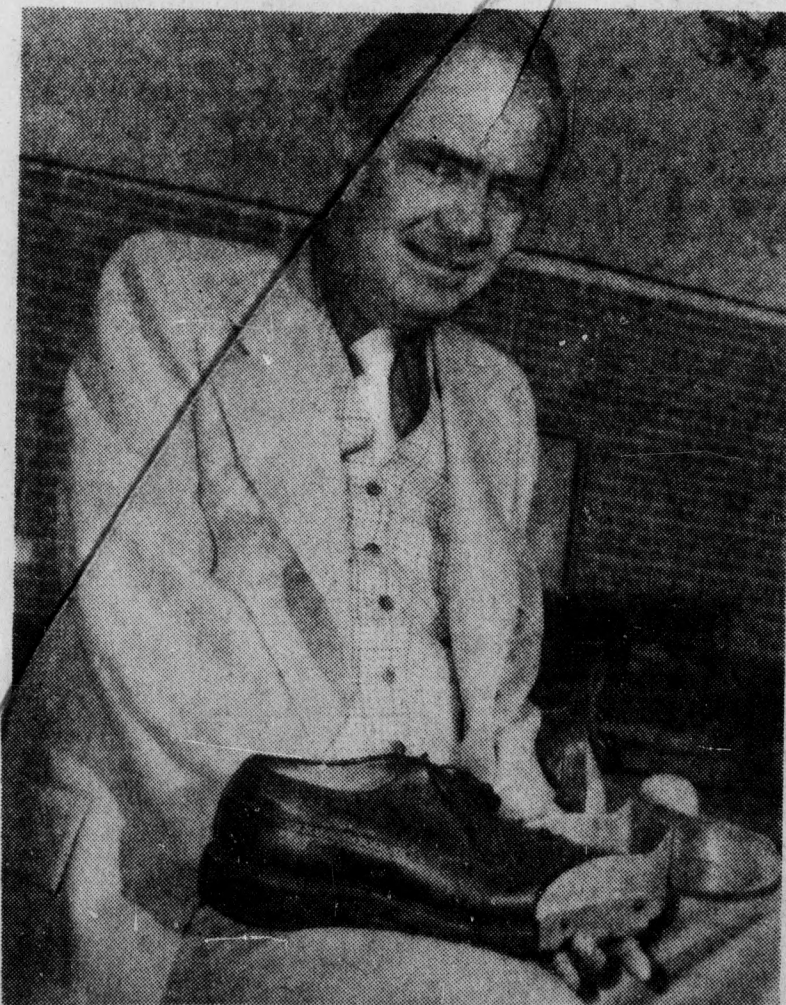

As a drama instructor, Folkins said he emphasizes acting more than stage craft or set designing because of his handicap.

Even without the use of his arms, though, Folkins drives, steering a circular device on the floor of his car with his left foot.

The modifications on his auto cost him $950, but, he said, "It's certainly worth it to me."

While facilities, such as wheelchair ramps, wouldn't necessarily benefit him, Folkins said he has supported anything that would help other handicapped people adapt to their condition.

And Folkins is a good example of what perseverance, imagination and a little adaptation can produce.

Unemployment program

A special, federally funded program paying unemployment benefits to uninsured workers has been extended for another year, according to Assemblyman Bill McVittie (D-65). "The program, titled Special Unemployment Assistance (SUA), was supposed to end the last week of December," McVittie said, "but it was continued another year because of the nation's unacceptably high number of unemployed persons. A survey taken in mid-December indicated that in California alone there were 711,220 persons receiving some kind of unemployment benefit. "And out of that total, which represents 80 per cent of the state's unemployed, SUA benefits were paid to 70,083 persons."

"SUA is helping keep one out of 10 unemployed persons claiming benefits off the welfare rolls supported by local property taxes. It's help which otherwise would have had to come from state and local resources at a time when taxes already are pushing people to their limit," McVittie added. SUA claims may be filed until Dec. 25, 1977. The last week for which SUA benefits are payable has been extended to the week ending June 25, 1978.

West End residents wishing more information about the SUA program should contact the state Employment Development Department, 1000 W. Fourth St., Ontario, CA, 986-3811.

Fish derby

Cucamonga - Guasti Regional Park, 800 N. Archibald Ave., Ontario, is sponsoring its third annual fish derby for adults, 16 years and older, and juniors. The month-long contest will run through Feb. 6. Categories are heaviest single fish and smallest single fish, including trout, carp and catfish. Fishing tackle and other prizes will be awarded to all first-place winners. Trout fishing permits for adults and juniors are available at the park. Every adult must also have a valid California state fishing license, and each angler, will be limited to a five-trout take. A $1 admission fee for automobiles on weekends and 50 cents fee on weekdays, plus a 10 cent pedestrian fee will be charged.

A special discount program for anglers is also available at Glen Helen and Cucamonga-Guasti regional parks. The Regional Parks Department is offering a book of six tickets at a cost of $10 for adults, 16 years and over, and $5 for juniors. With the new program, anglers will receive one free ticket with every five that are purchased. The permits are limited to the use of one ticket per person each day at Glen Helen and Cucamonga - Guasti. All permits must be validated upon entering either park.

Revenue generated by the sale of these tickets supports an on-going program in which the county buys trout and stocks both Glen Helen's and Cucamonga - Guasti lakes. The county has purchased approximately 8,000 pounds of trout for the two parks. In addition, the state matches all county-purchased trout, pound per pound, through a cooperative program.

Reorganization

Spokesmen of the San Bernardino County Regional Parks Department have announced a shake-up of top-level management at three of the county's nine park facilities. This reorganization was necessitated due to increasing personnel shortages and management needs.

The move will see new superintendents at the county's Glen Helen, Mojave Narrows and Mojave River Forks parks, and a new assistant superintendent at Prado Regional Park. Dave Meserve superintendent at Devore's Glen Helen Park for the past three years, will take over at Mojave River Forks Park in Summit Valley, six miles northeast of Silverwood Lake. He will also oversee operations at Big Morongo Wildlife Reserve in Morongo Valley. Ray Flores, currently assigned to Cucamonga - Guasti Park in Ontario, will become Glen Helen's superintendent.

Bart Ryder, a ranger at Cucamonga-Guasti, has been promoted to the position of park superintendent and will become the head man at Mojave Narrows in Victorville.

In addition, the county's new Prado Regional Park near Chino is to receive a new assistant superintendent. This position will be filled by Gene Walton, who currently is the assistant at Glen Helen.

At Security Pacific Bank, you can borrow on the money you have in your house.

Our simple interest
Homeowners Loan Program means you can put the equity in your house to work.

The key word is equity. Quite simply, equity is the cash you've invested in your house plus its increase in market value since you bought it.

And in recent years, that's probably a lot. Why not use it? You may be able to borrow from $5,000 up, based on the equity in your house.

And the loan will in no way affect the equity interest rate you have on your first mortgage.

You can take up to twelve years to pay it back, and if you should want to pay it back sooner, there is no penalty whatever. Just 12% annual percentage rate. Quite a bit lower than most installment loans, we might add. And our processing costs are low, too. Just $75. A glance at the chart will give you a pretty good idea of a program that will fit your income and your needs.

Unincorporated areas of West End

Crime increases 11%

Felony crimes in the unincorporated areas of the West End rose by 11 per cent in 1976 over 1975, the West End Sheriff's Office (WESO) reported.

Capt. Keith Larson attributes the rise to the rapid population growth in the West End, particularly in Alta Loma and Cucamonga.

He said that while he was not pleased with the hike in crime, he pointed out it did not rise proportionately with the population increase.

Lt. Tom Wickum added he believes the people moving into the area are "less crime oriented."

What really is concerning the sheriff's office is the sizable increase of armed robberies in the area. Sixty-nine robberies were reported in 1976 — a 29 per cent rise over 1975 and a 71 per cent gain over 1970.

Wickum could not pin down a specific reason for the growing number of armed robberies, but attributed it to "many, many things."

Only one homicide occurred within WESO's jurisdiction during 1976: a Cucamonga woman was slain in May. A suspect is in custody for that crime. The previous year had four slayings.

Aggravated assaults saw a 30 per cent rise in one year with 131 reported.

There were 11 rapes investigated by the sheriff, which represented no change over 1975.

Up 22 per cent over 1975 were burglaries, including residential, commercial and auto. There were 1,308 reported burglaries, representing a 53 per cent gain over 1970.

Other felony crimes reported included kidnaping up 25 per cent, nine reported sex violations and grand theft up 7 per cent.

A total of 2,146 felony crimes were reported during the year, 234 more than 1975.

Misdemeanor crimes came to a total of 2,586, 387 more than 1975.

Combining felony and misdemeanor crimes, an overall crime increase of 15 per cent was computed by the sheriff's department.

During the year sheriff's deputies responded to 15,926 calls. Of those, 11,020 were for criminal activities, 5,633 were for non-criminal activities and 273 were for traffic citations issued.

The sheriff's office does not normally handle traffic citations, but in the case of flagrant violations, they may do so. The California Highway Patrol usually handles traffic related problems in the unincorporated areas.

During the year the value of property stolen came to $1,980,194. Only $375,412 worth was ever recovered.

The sheriff's substation also provides jail facilities and handles bookings for all police agencies in the West End. Wickum said bookings for the year totaled 10,030 — an average of over 850 a month.

"They told us when the jail was built in 1965 we would never book over 300 people a month," he said.

In addition to regular personnel, the sheriff's office is often helped out by its reserves, mounted posse and search and rescue team. These three groups logged 26,594 hours of time with the department — all at their own expense.

change attitudes toward food, improve eating habits and to help students shed weight and keep it off. A new session began 11 a.m. Tuesday at the "Y," 215 E. C St., Ontario, 986-5847. An advanced course is offered 11 a.m. Thursdays.

Foothill district names Lee as battalion chief

A new battalion chief for the Foothill Fire District has been appointed. He is Bob Lee, 50.

Most recently Lee was with the Los Angeles County Fire Department. He was fire chief with the Claremont Fire Department for eight years and before that was with the Ontario Fire Department for 11 years as battalion chief.

Lee has lived in the West End most of his life. He attended Chaffey High School, graduated from Chaffey College with a degree in fire science and graduated from California State University at Fullerton with a degree in public administration.

Lee, a Claremont resident, is planning to move within the district shortly.

The Foothill Fire District covers the communities of Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda.

Students offer ideas to preserve power

The new year, which began with traditional parades and bowl games, also started Energy Conservation Month, Southern California Edison announced.

Local governments will join business and industry to sponsor the effort to conserve fuel resources and help achieve energy independence.

To stimulate interest among young people, local chambers of commerce and the Southern California Edison Co. are cosponsoring a community energy conservation contest among students in seventh through 12th grades.

According to R.W. Bond, Edison city/area manager, youths will be invited to compete for prizes with essays or sketches which offer original ideas on how to save energy.

Local chambers of commerce will select first-, second- and third-place winners, announcing the results on Jan. 21.

First-prize winners will be entered in competition for three grand prizes of U.S. savings bonds. First prize will be a $100 bond, second prize a $50 bond and third prize a $25 bond. The bonds, accompanied by replicas of Thomas Alva Edison's original electric bulb, will be given to winners at a Conservation Day program Feb. 10 in the California Museum of Science and Industry, Los Angeles.

Judging for the grand prizes will be done by staff of the Edison Co.'s Research and Development Department.

Upland celebrates energy independence

January has been declared Energy Conservation Month in Upland by Mayor George M. Gibson.

The proclamation was made in connection with an energy conservation program sponsored jointly by the Southern California Edison Co., the Upland Chamber of Commerce and Upland schools.

"Conservation of energy is one of the most important challenges facing American communities and citizens," Gibson said in his proclamation.

"All branches of government — federal, state and local — are joining with business and industry to realize a concentrated effort to conserve not only precious and finite fuel resources but also to enhance the energy independence of the United States."

Without insulation this could be the most expensive room in your house.

An attic that's not properly insulated could wind up costing you plenty.

When your heat is on, the warm air rises. So it moves from floor to ceiling in the rooms of your house. Without adequate insulation, the heat can pass through your ceiling into your attic. This waste of heat causes your heating system to work longer and harder. That could cost you money.

By insulating, or increasing the amount of insulation in your attic, you can cut your heating costs up to 40%.

Insulation is a one-time investment that pays off year after year. So call an insulation contractor. You'll find that based on today's prices, properly insulating an attic in a typical house runs between $200 and $300. And what better place to invest your money than in your own home?

You can also look forward to saving up to 40% on your cooling cost in the summer, when it's your air conditioner's turn to go to work.

Ontario county offices set for June opening

In six months, a square, beige-tinted, two-story building in downtown Ontario — the long-awaited county branch office building — should be open to the public.

The $1.7 million building will house the offices of 10 county departments now in several different locations throughout Ontario, plus the district office of Supervisor Joseph Kamansky.

Kamansky, Mikesell's board-appointed successor, said he will use what was to have been Mikesell's district office as an informal lounge and conference room instead.

The supervisor and two leading officials of the county's Public Works Agency toured the unfinished building.

The target date for building completion is the end of May, R.L. "Bud" Robison, who is supervising the project for the agency, said. The estimated 300 employees who will work there will move in afterward.

The building is about two-thirds completed, Robison added.

At this stage, the building's interior appears little more than a maze of concrete floors and walls, with numerous steel beams, door frames, pipes and air conditioning units.

The ground floor will be occupied primarily by the county welfare department, now at 1010 W. Sixth St. Its offices will take up about 25,000 of the building's total 62,890 square feet.

Office space on the ground floor will also be provided for three other county departments — agriculture, agricultural extension and veterans' affairs — now at 214 S. Euclid Ave.

Ramps will enable the handicapped to enter the building at the ground floor. From there, they will be able to take one of two elevators to the second floor.

The second floor may be reached directly through public entrances on the building's east, west and south sides. Flights of concrete steps lead to the second floor.

Half of this floor will be occupied by the public health department, now at 1020 W. Sixth St., and the mental health department, now at 210 W. B St. Space for the public health department will be expanded from the present 7,000 square feet to about 10,000 square feet in the new building.

Space has also been provided for the assessor's office and three other county departments — building and safety, environmental health and weights and measures-consumer affairs.

The environmental health department is now at 1020 W. Sixth St. The others are at 310 W. B St.

One corner of the second floor will be used for a dining room for county employees and the public. It will seat about 50 people.

The kitchen will be operated by the California Department of Rehabilitation and will give jobs to the handicapped, Robison said.

Kamansky showed considerable interest in one small part of the building — the location of what will be his district office.

The space was to have been occupied by Kamansky's predecessor, Daniel D. Mikesell, who participated in the building's groundbreaking ceremonies May 27.

Mikesell had lobbied vigorously for the building, construction of which is financed largely from federal revenue-sharing funds, so that county offices could be housed in a single, central location — except for those dealing with the administration of justice.

However, the 18-year veteran of the board of supervisors was unable to see the building finished during his term of office. Mikesell resigned Sept. 28 on grounds of ill health and under threat of recall.

Robison said bids on the construction of the Ontario project "are definitely the lowest I've seen in 10 years."

An adjacent, slightly smaller room will serve as the district office of Kamansky and his field representative.

The cost of the building in Ontario will be about $27 per square foot. A smaller (46,000 square feet) county branch office building in Chino, opened earlier this year, cost about $31 per square foot.

John Cashion, whose Pomona-based architectural firm drew up the final building design, said at ground-breaking ceremonies May 27 that most government buildings cost $35 to $40 per square foot, with some running as high as $90 per square foot.

M. Crane Kitchel takes over post as county counsel

M. Crane Kitchel, who has served as acting county counsel since June, has been appointed permanently to the post of chief legal adviser for the county.

Kitchel, 59, who has served as a deputy county counsel and assistant county counsel for 17 years, was appointed to the job Monday by the county board of supervisors.

Kitchel succeeds Stanford D. Herlick, who was county counsel for 16 years before retiring last June. Kitchel's salary initially will be $38,856.

The county counsel's office provides legal services for all branches of county government, including special districts, and is the chief source of legal advice for school districts as well.

McVittie, Goggin join powerful committee

Local Assemblymen Bill McVittie, D-65th Dist., and Terry Goggin, D-66th Dist., have been appointed to the Assembly Ways and Means Committee for the 1977 legislative session.

McVittie gave up his post as vice chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee to move to the Ways and Means Committee, one of the most powerful in the legislature. The Ways and Means Committee drafts the state budget bill and acts on all bills that involve state spend-ding.

McVittie will retain his positions on the Judiciary Committee and the Agriculture Committee in the Assembly.

Goggin received a new assignment as a member of the Criminal Justice Committee and was reappointed to the Resources, Land Use and Energy Committee. Goggin will leave the Finance, Insurance and Commerce Committee to become a member of the 21-member Ways and Means Committee.

FREE History of Playing Cards

Including a free deck of modern cards

Consider the lowly playing card and all the pleasure it has contributed to people through the ages. Well, we decided that January 1st to 15th would be an excellent time to glorify man's best cardboard friend by sketching a "History of Playing Cards."

And so, the final chapter of the fascinating narrative (our gift to you) brings the story right up to the present day. What better way to illustrate contemporary design than with an actual deck of cards, itself?

These most unusual free gifts are yours for the asking between January 1st to 15th. All you have to do is drop-by your nearest Southwest Savings office. You'll receive both the "History of Playing Cards" with the card-deck that accompanies it.

No obligation, of course. You needn't be a Southwest Saver to qualify for the free gifts. But if you're not, perhaps you would consider the advantages of opening an account. We would appreciate the opportunity to prove that... a Southwest Savings account is one of the soundest, most profitable investments you can find.

County parks offer alternatives

The Christmas rush is over, and many people are looking for wide-open spaces to spend a few days of fun and relaxation. Some of the best places to enjoy leisure time activities can be found within San Bernardino County's Regional Park System.

San Bernardino County operates nine regional parks. Each facility has a personality of its own, offering a wide variety of recreational opportunities, and is open all year long.

Prado Regional Park is the newest facility the county operates, having opened in October. This park may be reached by taking Euclid Avenue south from Interstate 10 for eight miles to the entrance gate. The park can also be reached from Highway 71 by traveling three miles north on Euclid.

Several individual and group picnicking areas border Prado's two ponds and many open play areas. For overnight stay, a modern 50-unit campground provides a chance to get away from it all, "close to home." Across Euclid Avenue, golf enthusiasts can enjoy El Prado Golf Course, with its two 18-hole championship courses, pro shop and restaurant.

Another close-to-home recreation facility is Cucamonga - Guasti Regional Park. This park may be reached by taking the Archibald Avenue exit off Interstate 10 and following the sign one block to the park entrance.

Fishing is the name of the game during Cucamonga - Guasti's winter months. From November to April, the park's two lakes are stocked regularly with rainbow trout. Fishermen will also find channel catfish the year round. Those who wish to explore the water at a leisurely pace may rent a pedal or rowboat in the park's larger lake. Family, group or club picnics are always a favorite pastime, and the park contains numerous picnic areas. Each site comes complete with its own table and barbecue.

Glen Helen Regional Park was the first facility planned and developed by the county. Opened in 1968, its lakes, trails and campground encompass 500 acres in scenic Cajon Pass. Located 10 miles north of San Bernardino, the park can be reached by taking Interstate 15 to the Devore Road exit and following the signs one mile west to the park entrance.

Fishing is also a major pastime at this park. The facility contains two large lakes and several small ponds. The lakes are stocked with rainbow trout and catfish.

Another popular feature of the park is its ecology trail. Winding through a heavily wooded area, this section features several varieties of wildlife and plant growth.

A grassy picnic area is located along the shore of the park's largest lake. It features several individual sites, along with areas accommodating large groups. The next park, Mojave River Forks, is primarily a campground facility. Located ten miles northeast of Silverwood Lake on California Highway 173 via Highway 138, Mojave River Forks is situated in the Summit Valley area.

The fully equipped campground is a favorite spot for weekend boaters utilizing Silverwood Lake. Totalling 90 sites, the park features 25 complete hookup sites and one large group-camping area.

Through Cajon Pass and onto the high desert, the next stop is Mojave Narrows Regional Park. Located in the Mojave River Basin three miles south of Victorville, the park may be reached by taking the Bear Valley Road exit off Interstate 15 and following the signs to the park entrance.

The Narrows offers fishing twelve months a year in Horseshoe Lake. Anglers can either try their luck from the shore or rent a boat and fish in deeper waters. Several individual and group picnic sites are scattered throughout the area. Each one comes complete with table and barbecue. A recent addition in the park's 800-acre wildlife area is a specially designed trail for the handicapped. This completely paved pathway winds through a heavily wooded area for almost a mile, along which visitors may see several types of plants and animals.

Camping clubs will enjoy a new 87-unit campground located within the park and near Horseshoe Lake. This facility, complete with restrooms and hot showers, provides a good base camp for restful weekends and club get-togethers.

Calico Ghost Town is perhaps the best known regional park, having been part of the system since Walter Knott gave it to the county in 1966.

A silver mining boom town of the 1880s, Calico can be found 10 miles northeast of Barstow, just off Interstate Route 15. The townsite has been restored in the vein of its historical past and offers the visitor a view of the wild west during its heyday.

Today, one can walk the tunnels of Maggie's Mine, ride a tram and railroad, visit the museum or the mystery shack and even participate in an 1880 stage show at the Calikage Playhouse. There are many interesting shops and food parlors, where varieties of western-style goods, snacks and merchandise may be bought. For extended stays, there's a modern 110-unit campground nestled in a secluded canyon below the town, offering a centrally located base camp for desert explorations of nearby Calico Dig, Doran Canyon and Rainbow Basin.

Just down the road from Calico Ghost Town, a truly unique regional park facility is the Early Man

La Leche meetings

The Mt. Baldy View Chapter of La Leche League plans to hold meetings in Claremont, Pomona and San Dimas during January.

La Leche League is a nonprofit, international organization offering encouragement, information and practical help to women who wish to breastfeed their babies. Meetings are open to all interested women. Babies are welcome.

The group plans a session Thursday in Claremont at 8 p.m. on "Advantages of Breastfeeding to Mother and Baby."

The third meeting, in San Dimas, begins at 8 p.m. Jan. 20. The topic is "Baby Arrives; The Family and the Breastfed Baby."

A 9:30 a.m. session on "Nutrition and Weaning" is scheduled for Jan. 18.

Archaeological Site. Known as "The Calico Dig," this complex consists of two master pits, where discoveries may have pushed man's existence on this continent back at least 50,000 years. The Calico Dig is located six miles north of Calico Ghost Town. Free guided tours are available every day of the week except Tuesday. For nature lovers,

Morongo Regional Park, located in Morongo Valley, is a 160-acre wildlife reserve. The park entrance is located just east of Highway 62 in Morongo Valley. Nature study is the main pastime at this facility. Left in a natural state, Morongo is home for over 200 species of birds and 150 varieties of plant life. An interconnecting trail system runs throughout the park's many varied environmental communities. Here, one may get a close-up look at anything from a vermillion fly catcher to a wild turkey vulture. The final stop within the county's park system is Park Moabi Marina, located on the Colorado River, 11 miles southeast of Needles off Interstate 40. Moabi is considered by many as the railroad of the lower Colorado.

There are several ways to enjoy one's stay at this facility. Fishermen will discover catfish, bass, trout, and bluegill awaiting their hooks, and for those wishing to discover the river, houseboats may be rented at the marina for weekend or week-long cruises.

Function of use permits

To help citizens of Upland better understand their city's responsibilities and to get answers on city government, John Shoemaker, Upland community relations coordinator, is bringing City Hall to the people through the courtesy of the Upland News. The column "The Town Crier" is designed to be informative on all issues of city government.

To reach "The Town Crier," write: Community Relations, City of Upland, 460 N. Euclid Ave., Upland, CA 91786. Persons should include their name, address and telephone number. Only initials will be listed in the column.

QUESTION: What is the purpose of a conditional use permit? L.S.

ANSWER: The conditional use permit is for those types of land uses which require special consideration in a particular district or in the city as a whole, due to the size of the area needed for full development of such use; the unusual traffic, noise, vibration, smoke, or other problems incidental to its operation; or to the effect that such uses may have on property values, health, safety, and general welfare in the neighborhoods or the community.

QUESTION: You have made mention of the computerized signal system on North Mountain Avenue. What is being done about the light signals on Mountain Avenue south of Foothill Boulevard? D.W.

ANSWER: Coordination of signals on Mountain south of Foothill Boulevard has been made for the intersections from Eighth Street through 11th Street. At this time this coordination is accomplished through a very simple program and will be improved as additional options supplied by the traffic computer are implemented. This set of intersections is a designated sub-system and the particular level of operation and optimum speed is given on the electronic speed signs posted in four different locations. At this time these electronic signs give only two speeds but will have, in the future, four different settings. Work is presently underway to bring a third subsystem under coordination. This third subsystem consists of the two freeway off ramps and Seventh Street. A change in the signal phasing sequence for the Seventh Street intersection controller has been made to provide more coordination between these intersections. Some motorist inconvenience has been created by the revision process due to the fact that the revisions have manifested various electronic problems not normally encountered in the usual signal operation.

QUESTION: Does the Police Department have any suggestions about how people should use the double left turn (suicide) lanes on Foothill Boulevard? Many people seem to be confused about how the lanes should be used. Also how should people use the lanes across Euclid Avenue between the north and south lanes? Sometimes so many cars get stacked up in that area that north-south traffic is blocked. L.L.

ANSWER: To have a little more indepth information to your question, I contacted City Engineer Fred Blanchard for your answer. The first part is relative to the two-way left turn lanes on Foothill Boulevard. In the wording of the question, the word "suicide" was used as a descriptive indication of the type of lanes that these double left turn lanes might represent. These two-way left turn lanes were installed by CALTRANS (California Department of Transportation) several years ago after the city brought a traffic problem to the department's attention. Citizens had been complaining to the city that it was hazardous to make a left turn off of Foothill Boulevard because there were no safe turning areas, and people were, therefore, experiencing a number of rear-end collisions. Upon checking traffic records, it was indeed found that there were a significant number of rear-end collisions along Foothill Boulevard that occurred in instances where people were waiting to make left turns. The city staff brought this matter to the attention of CALTRANS. After their traffic section analyzed the problem, they decided to act. The two-way left turn lanes were the result. Since these left turn lanes have been in existence, they have had a very good safety record. For example, during the past year the only accidents experienced relative to the use of the two-way left turn lanes were four instances where motorists drove into the ends of the raised left turn islands at signalized intersections.

It may be that the term "suicide" is applied to these left turn lanes from an older use of a center two-way lane. Quite a few years ago, particularly in the eastern part of the country, there were highways that we developed as three lane roads. One lane was reserved for each direction of travel, and the center lane was assigned as a passing lane for either direction of travel. Some of the highways where these were installed had extremely high death rates. One of the highways in Kentucky led all highways in the nation in death rate. These accidents occurred when cars going in different directions passed at high speeds at the same time. This does not really compare with the use of double left turn lanes which are not only used on Foothill Boulevard in Upland, but also are used in many other parts of the country quite successfully.

The second part of the question was relative to the median crossings at the signalized intersections along Euclid Avenue. The question specifically dealt with cars being stacked up in these areas to the point where they blocked the flow of north-south traffic on the avenue. The city and the state are aware of this problem and are currently designing an improvement project that will include in its consideration all of the intersections on Euclid Avenue between the freeway and 19th Street. We hope this project, which should take place in about one year, will solve the problem.

QUESTION: Can you tell us the duties of Upland's animal control officer? M.S.

ANSWER: The Upland Police Department has two animal control officers, Otis Braden and George Pedersen. Under general supervision they enforce laws relating to the licensing, control and care of animals; patrol city streets to locate stray animals; pick up and impound animals; check for valid dog licenses; issue citations for the violation of animal regulations; advise owners of loose animals, leash laws, and the necessity to keep animals under control; investigate reports of animal bites, and cruelty to animals; remove dead animals from public streets and rights-of-way; issue dog licenses; maintain records of animal bites and quarantines; clean and disinfect animal retention areas; feed and water animals; assist in the destruction of unclaimed animals, and prepare activity reports.

Health clinic

The San Bernardino County Public Health Department provides pap smear clinics for women who do not need or require family planning services. Women who use the Public Health Family Planning Clinics receive as part of the service that very important annual pap smear and breast exam for cancer.

Sometimes, after women have passed the child bearing years or if they or their husband have had surgery so that pregnancy is no longer possible, women neglect to have their annual pap smear. Cancer of the cervix can be cured when caught early. The annual pap smear is like life insurance. For the woman who comes to a public health clinic the only cost is a little of her time as there is no charge for the service.

The clinics are held once a month and rotate between the three centers in the West End: Ontario, Chino and Cucamonga.

Chiropractic Headache No. 1

The American Backache

By Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C.

Recently a high school teacher gave a short quiz that tested the pupil's ability to match the specialist with a health problem.

When asked where an individual would best seek treatment and care of a back problem, 75% of them said "At the Chiropractor."

The significance of this awareness is two-fold: most everyone knows that the modern Doctor of Chiropractic is the most natural person to see regarding a back problem; and that backaches, sciatica, low back pains, etc., are so prevalent in our society today, even the youngsters know that some doctors recommend chiropractic treatment and care for them.

It is, of course, commonly known that the modern Doctor of Chiropractic, while being most knowledgeable in the treatment and care of back problems, is also a specialist for the many problems that occur because of back problems.

28,000,000 citizens now...today...suffer from aching backs? And of that number, there are too tragically many who have resigned themselves to wearing back braces or just plain living with discomfort. These people should seek competent care and treatment for their problem.

One of the principal reasons that an individual with a back problem doesn't seek effective care from the modern Doctor of Chiropractic is that he dismisses the possibilities from normal alignment.

Maybe he didn't slip and fall.

Maybe he didn't attempt to lift a heavy load from a faulty position.

Maybe he doesn't do a lot of driving hunched over a steering wheel.

Maybe he doesn't do a lot of sitting slumped in a chair watching TV.

Maybe he doesn't work at a job that requires him to operate from an awkward position.

There are many 'maybe' notes.

But life involves an equal number of 'maybes', ways in which vertebrae might move suddenly or gradually from normal alignment and cause back trouble. Then it's time for action.

And it's never too late for an appointment with a specialist in the problem. Even most school children know there's no 'maybe' about that.

New programs seen for Southland transit

What's ahead for transportation in the Southland? Quite a bit, according to the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG).

For the third consecutive year, SCAG has developed a Draft Regional Transportation Plan for the six-county SCAG region. While it updates earlier plans to accommodate new thinking on regional transportation issues, the plan also proposes a number of new programs and projects which could ultimately affect all Southern Californians.

To measure public response to the proposals—and to encourage new input and ideas from concerned residents—SCAG will hold a public hearing tonight at the Los Angeles Convention Center. The hearing will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 10 p.m., and all interested citizens are urged to attend and participate.

The public hearing follows a series of local transportation workshops held in Los Angeles, Orange, Ventura, Riverside, San Bernardino and Imperial counties during the past two months.

Although public interest in transportation seems to have cooled in recent years, there are many proposals being considered. Local citizens became dramatically aware of the results of one such proposal in 1976, with the introduction of the Santa Monica Freeway "Diamond Lane" Project. While this experiment was discontinued after nearly five months of operation, SCAG's draft plan supports other means to manage Southern California freeways.

"It is essential that we do more about the air pollution that is caused by automobile emissions," noted SCAG President Rosanna Scott, Riverside councilwoman. "Walking, riding the bus or carpooling can be a start to eliminating some of the excess traffic and resulting air pollution."

Such techniques include preferential lane for high-occupancy vehicles, increased car and van pooling efforts, metered ramps and bypass lanes for buses and carpools and the simultaneous development of public transit services to offer commuters a viable and economical alternative to the single-passenger car.

The 1977 plan calls for preferential bus and carpool lanes on the San Diego, Long Beach and Artesia freeways. It also recommends doubling the number of metered freeway ramps in the next year, from the current 213 to 406. By 1983, the plan calls for 1,000 on-ramps to be fully metered, with half of these designed with bypass lanes for high-occupancy vehicles.

"The purpose of these plans is to reduce automotive emissions, conserve dwindling energy resources, decrease traffic congestion on commuting routes and generally to move to a more balanced and more efficient system of getting around," said Orange County Supervisor Ralph Clark, chairman of the SCAG Transportation and Utilities Committee.

Other recommendations in the 1977 Draft Plan could have far-reaching impacts on the region. One is a two-cent gas tax increase with the proceeds to be returned to local cities and counties for highway maintenance and other transit development programs at the grass-roots level.

Another is the proposed development of commuter rail service designed to link Los Angeles with such cities as Santa Ana, San Bernardino and Ventura, in addition to the San Diego corridor rail service now being developed.

Health Tips

What to do about frostbite

EDITOR'S NOTE: Health Tips is a column of the California Medical Education and Research Foundation, prepared and edited by physician members of the California Medical Association. It is reprinted by this newspaper as a public service.

Frostbite can be much more than just uncomfortable—it can be a painful and potentially serious injury.

True frostbite means the tissues are frozen. Crystals of ice form between the cells. Nerves, muscles and blood vessel tissues are most susceptible.

The wind plays an important part in frostbite. The chilling effect of air at 20 degrees moving at 45 miles an hour is the same as 40-below-zero air on a still day.

One of the dangers of frostbite is that you often don't feel it. Someone else may notice that your nose or ear is turning white. The frozen part becomes hard to the touch and loses feeling. Many sports leaders advocate a buddy system for outdoor winter sports whereby two persons are paired off, each watching the other for signs of frostbite.

To prevent frostbite, first be certain that you are properly dressed for the temperature. Avoid overexertion and excessive perspiration. Avoid contact of bare flesh with cold metal. Don't smoke or drink alcohol.

In first aid for frostbite, forget the old saw about rubbing the affected part with snow, and forget also the completely invalid caution against rapid thawing. Also, don't massage or rub the frozen part. In fact, don't touch it at all.

When frostbite occurs, begin rewarming as soon as possible. A hot bath is excellent, but avoid scalding. Hot wet towels, changed frequently and applied gently, will help. If no fire or hot water is available, place the victim in a sleeping bag or cover him or her with coats and blankets. Hot liquids help raise body temperatures.

The Consumer Line
by Julie Grayson

When I pay good money for beef, I want to be certain I'm getting my money's worth. I'm sure you do, too. That's why it's important to know something about government beef grading. Beef is government graded for quality. The highest grade is USDA Prime; however, this may contain a little too much fat for some tastes. The grade many people prefer, and which Ralphs features exclusively, is USDA Choice Beef. It produces juicy cuts with excellent flavor. The USDA Choice shield is an excellent gauge of quality. That's why it's important when comparing prices to make sure you're comparing Choice with Choice. If you don't see the Choice shield on the package, it's a pretty safe bet that it isn't Choice and you may not be getting the quality you want. At Ralphs you can be sure our beef is USDA Choice and as with all Ralphs products the satisfaction is guaranteed. If you want more facts on grading, or if you have a question, comment or price inquiry, call me. I'm here to help.

Chapel plans workshops

Christian Chapel of Walnut will sponsor a new series of "Family Life Workshops" beginning Friday and Saturday with a workshop entitled, "Intimate Communications."

The workshops will focus on proven, practical ways to improve relations and communications between all family members. They will feature expert guest lecturers, the latest techniques for establishing open dialog, textbooks on psychology, marriage, the family, and child rearing, plus biblical principles.

Workshops will be open to the public. They are presented as a public service as a major part of the church's continuing program of helping families live in joy and harmony. Additional workshops will be announced as soon as they are scheduled.

The initial workshop on "Intimate Communications" is for married or engaged couples. Using psychologically proved role-play, paraphrasing and encounter - group techniques, plus lecture and discussion periods based on biblical teaching, couples will be shown how to practice good communications.

The workshop will be conducted by guest teacher Dr. Raymond Kramer, an authority on marriage and communication; Pastor George Crites; and the staff members of Christian Chapel. It will be divided into two open attendance and one closed, limited-enrollment sessions.

The two open sessions for all who come to the chapel 7 p.m. Friday or Saturday, will focus on lectures and discussions.

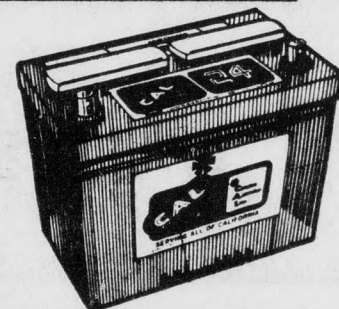

The closed, limited-enrollment session Saturday is only for couples who make advance reservations by calling the chapel, (714) 598-1964.

Voyage recreated

By Paul Sampson
National Geographic News
Four thousand years before Columbus, unknown mariners from offshore islands of Asia already had begun discovery of flecks of land scattered across 25 million square miles of the Pacific Ocean.

Polynesians aboard large voyaging canoes accomplished incredible feats of navigation and seamanship as they explored a huge triangle of open ocean, with Hawaii, Easter Island, and New Zealand as its outer limits. They had no navigation instruments.

The early sailors guided their vessels by their knowledge of stars, winds, and currents; of swells deflected from unseen islands, and even the taste and temperature of the water itself.

Journey emulates Polynesians
A 90-minute National Geographic television special, "Voyage of the Hokule'a," follows from conception to successful conclusion a journey that emulated the feats of the ancient Polynesians.

husks became fuel. Water used for cooking was saved and drunk.

Attuned to shifts
But it was while functioning as a navigator that Pailug was most impressive. Like a finely tuned instrument, his body registered and responded to the slightest shifts of wind or current, to the complex system of ocean swells hardly apparent even to such an experienced navigator as David Lewis.

While Hokule'a was in waters unfamiliar to Pailug, Lewis, who knew the area, oriented him to the stars and currents. Late in the voyage, Pailug turned to birds for navigational help. He watched terns soaring over the canoe, and pointed the vessel to follow their homing flight at dusk.

The next day Hokule'a reached Mataiva, a tiny atoll in the Tuamotus. Pailug was right on course for Tahiti, now only 17 miles ahead.

Three days later Hokule'a sailed into Tahiti where a crowd of 15,000 — the greatest Polynesian gathering since the arrival of the explorer Captain James Cook — swarmed out to greet the mariners.

Lewis attributed the success of the voyage to the remarkable navigational skill and traditional seamanship of Mau Pailug, but paid tribute to the rest of the crew: "Though untrained in the ancient skills, they had — with justifiable pride — confirmed the achievements of their ancestors."

'Hughie' opens at Cal Poly

Reservations are now being accepted for the Cal Poly, Pomona drama department's production of Eugene O'Neill's one-act play, "Hughie." The drama will be presented on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 14 and 15, and Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Jan. 20, 21, and 22. Performances will be in the Studio Theatre at 8 p.m.

"Hughie" is the only completed play of a projected cycle of one-act plays. It was written in 1940 but it was not performed until after O'Neill's death. It had a world premiere in Stockholm in 1958 and opened in New York in 1964 starring Jason Robards, and toured the country in 1974 with Ben Gazzara in the leading role.

"Hughie" is a glimpse into the life of Erie Smith, a small-time gambler and spinner of tales. He is returning from a five-day drunk, mourning the death of Hughie, the night clerk of the run-down hotel where Erie lives. Hughie had been his sounding board, his looking-glass which gave him the reflection of the big shot he would have liked to have been. He meets the new night clerk, and we see a new relationship emerging from the old fantasies. Erie feints slyly with persistent good humor. The illusions unfold, and the play develops a sense of expanding discovery.

The Cal Poly production features Bill Cuddy of Upland and Ed Longwill of Pomona, and is directed by Dave Miller, a Cal Poly senior.

For ticket information or reservations, call 598-4546 or 598-4549.

Heredity study

In most cases, science does not know what makes the heart develop abnormally before the baby is born, says the American Heart Association. Heredity is being studied.

The Hokule'a, "Star of Gladness," was built in Hawaii under the auspices of the Polynesian Voyaging Society as an official Bicentennial project of the state of Hawaii.

The film focuses on the characters of the men who were the guiding spirits behind Hokule'a and the 17 men who made the voyage in May and June, 1976.

The man who became the dominant figure during the 35-day voyage was the navigator, Mau Pailug, from the Satawal atoll in the Caroline Islands of Micronesia.

Began at age 6
A stocky, strong 44-year-old Pailug was only 6 years old when he began his formal training as a star-path navigator. He became a full-fledged navigator at the age of 18, and since then has roamed far and wide through the central Carolines, without the aid of navigational instruments.

Pailug was assisted by Rodo Williams, a Tahitian and former schooner

Paperwork costs high

By Senator H. L. Richardson

In the Book of Genesis, we can read the entire story of the creation of the world in only 632 words. But to comply with one reporting requirement of the Federal Energy Administration, Exxon Oil Company had to submit a report 455,000 pages long.

Unfortunately, this was not an isolated incident. In fact, it is estimated that completing the veritable reams of government forms cost the 20 major oil companies in excess of $60 million last year. To make matters worse, to make government - required paperwork represents only a tiny fraction of the overall cost of government regulation.

So great is that cost that a public policy paper issued by the Graduate School of Management of the University of Rochester predicts:

"The corporate form of organization is likely to disappear completely, but even if it survives in some form, the larger corporations as we know them are destined to be destroyed. Indeed, in a few industries we believe their demise is imminent."

The Rochester study, prepared by professor Michael Jensen and the dean of the graduate school, William Meckling, cites the transportation, utility and oil industries as the most likely candidates for nationalization.

Before jumping for joy, perhaps we should ask ourselves two questions.

First of all, if these major corporations are nationalized or if they simply collapse under the burden of government regulation, who gets hurt?

Secondly, if the corporations disappear, that will replace them?

The answer to the first question (who gets financially hurt) is probably all of us. As the Rochester study points out, corporations are actually nothing more than a very complex assortment of interlocking contracts between individuals. Most of us are a part of that contractual relationship whether we realize it or not, particularly if we have a pension program or a savings account at our local bank. When corporate profits decline, our own assets are affected too. Viewed in this light, we can see how foolish it is to think of corporations as giant candy mountains to be gobbled up whenever the body politic takes a fancy to do so.

Technically, of course, if a corporation goes bankrupt, the assets are supposed to be distributed among the creditors and bondholders. We need only look at the case of Penn Central Railroad, however, to see what will actually happen.

When the federal government moved in to "save" the Penn Central, the first action was to transfer operation of the corporation to court-appointed trustees - who promptly lost a billion dollars.

Next the government transferred the assets of Penn Central to the government-run Conrail System in exchange for a drawerful of virtually worthless paper stock. When the railroad went under, there were $7.5 billion worth of assets. By the time the government deducted its various handling costs, there was only $450 million left ... about 6 per cent.

Frankly, when it came to bleeding Penn Central dry, the mafia couldn't have done a more thorough job.

The threat of nationalization may in part explain the miserable performance of the stock market in recent years. In fact, that is precisely the conclusion drawn by Jensen and Meckling who note that during the period from 1965 to 1975, the total market value of publicly held companies declined nearly 50 per cent.

Wallin named to committee

June Wallin of Ontario has been reappointed to the membership of the Republic State Central Committee of California for the 1977 - 1978 term.

Mrs. Wallin has been a member of the Republican State Central Committee for a number of years. She is also a member of the San Bernardino County Republican Central Committee, an elected office. She has served as chairwoman of that body and is current president of the Chaffey Community Republican Women.

In making the announcement, Stephens said, "It has been a privilege to work with a lady so dedicated to the principles of government that has made America the greatest nation in the world. I am pleased to appoint June Wallin to the membership of the Republican State Central Committee."

Want Ads Mean

for different folks.

What kind of spokes bespeak your fancy? In the Want Ads there are as many different kinds as there are preferences -- from baby carriages to mobile homes and 18-wheel semis.

Deals in wheels cover the wide range of all ages, featuring such standard modes of movement as the tricycle, bicycle, motor bike, every make and model car, and trucks of every size and description. You also find a good variety of work vehicles, such as wheelbarrows and yard and garden equipment.

People just naturally turn to Classified when it comes time to convert the old wheels to cash and move up to something bigger and better. They know there is someone out there who will be looking for a bargain. And they know that only Classified offers the variety of choice and the flexible price range that mean exceptional buys.

There's only one market place that has it all -- the Classified Section.

A MESSAGE TO CLASSIFIED AD USERS

You are about to invest money for an Ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results. Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well-written, informative ad will get results faster and cost less in the long run.

1. Don't Omit The Address

Many out-of-town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. Don't Omit The Phone Number

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. Don't Use Blind Box Numbers

They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. Don't Conceal The Price

Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. Don't Leave Home on The Days You Advertise

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your home is unanswered.

6. Don't Forget, Check Your Ad The First Day It Runs. Call Us!
